Georgia College Students Honored

Forty-three student leaders at Georgia College were honored recently for their service and contributions to the college and for their accomplishments in a variety of fields.

The students were honored at an awards banquet attended by nearly 200 students, members of the faculty, parents, and friends.

Judge Joseph B. Duke of the Ocmulgee Judicial Circuit Superior Court was the keynote speaker at the banquet and spoke on qualities of leadership.

Five students were named to the Colonial Hall of Fame for achievement in the areas of academics, athletics, music, and the visual arts, and in the social-political field.

The five were Linda Bailey Crawford of Waynesboro, Susan Jones of Atlanta, Sara Mann of Hattiesburg, Miss., Mark Sickler of Woodstock, N.Y., and Lee Roy Lane of Milledgeville.

Four special awards were made to students who exhibited leadership in promoting the college community.

Frank M. Howell, now a newscaster for radio station WXLX in Milledgeville, was honored for his efforts in founding the new college radio station, WXGC.

Marcia Lyles of Roberta and past president of Alpha Delta Pi was cited for her sorority's contributions to the college community.

Garry Heidel of Milledgeville and past president of Pi Kappa Alpha was honored for leading his fraternity in service to GC.

Vicki Still of Blakely and the GC chapter of Phi Epsilon Omicron, a national honor society in home economics, was given an award as president of the independent organization contributing the most in service to the college community.

Honored for leadership in social and political activities at the college were Lee Roy Lane of Milledgeville, president of the GC student body; Robert Riddle of Milledgeville, student director of social activities at the college; Suellen Griggs of Stone Mountain, former editor of the college newspaper, the Colonnade; Cecil Simpkins of LaGrange, editor of the Spectrum, the college annual; and William Kearney of Milledgeville, secretary for student activities at GC.

Honored for leadership in college musical activities were Donald Johnston of Macon and the concert band; Donald Elder of Milledgeville and the stage band and brass choir; Liza Garland of Fitzgerald and the women's chorale; Sara Mann of Hattiesburg, Miss. and the mixed chorus; and Sandra Ledbetter of Milledgeville and the Aeolian Singers.

Honored for their college spirit were Anresa Stevens of Savannah, Nancy Kilgore of Riverdale, and Deborah Bilbo of Fairburn, captain and co-captains of the cheerleaders.

Honored for their leadership in college athletics were J. Barry Bruner of Toombsboro, and Mohamed Kamara of Sierra Leone, West Africa, co-captains of the soccer team; Martha Banks of Milledgeville, co-captain of the volleyball team; Lynn Bates of Alpharetta, co-captain of the women's tennis and volleyball teams; Larry Anderson of Jeffersonville, Alvin Richardson of Rutledge, and Robert Williams of St. Petersburg, Fla., co-captains of the men's basketball team; Betty Gale McNair of Waycross and Margaret McAfee of Lakeland, co-captains of the women's basketball team; Henry Wood of Sandersville and George Patterson of Savannah, co-captains of the men's tennis team; Margaret S. Jones of Atlanta, and Monica Manss of Richmond, Va., co-captains of the women's gymnastics team; Rick Cottle of Hogansville, and Stuart Jones of Griffin, co-captains of the men's baseball team; Jana Jackson of Covington, co-captain of the women's tennis team; and David Hill of Gray, captain of the coed golf team.

GC Librarians To Conduct Workshop

Two members of the library staff at Georgia College and an associate professor of art at GC will conduct a workshop on Friday May 2, for Bibb County elementary and secondary school librarians.

The workshop, scheduled for the media equipment center at GC, will be held from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. At the workshop, participants will be introduced to the basics of bulletin board design. Later they will tour the Ina Dillard Russell Library and the Learning Resources Center at the college.

On the workshop faculty will be Charles E. Beard, Director of libraries at GC and an associate professor of education library media; Robert J. Richardson, head of the public services division at the library and an assistant professor of education library media; and Jan Hardy, an associate professor of art.

Education Majors Learn Duties

Approximately 50 Georgia College education majors spent three days recently learning about the duties of non-teaching administrators in five counties.

On Monday, the students planned their "on the job" visitations.

On Tuesday, the students visited the administrators in Baldwin, Bibb, Jones, Washington, and Wilkinson Counties and interviewed them about their duties as professional support personnel to teachers in the five school systems.

On Wednesday, they reported on their findings and the results of their evaluations.

Primarily, visits were made to curriculum directors, superintendents and assistant superintendents, media center directors, area technical consultants, visiting teacher service directors, and reading and library coordinators in the five systems.

Visits were also made to the family and Childrens Services office in Milledgeville and the Cooperative Educational Services Agency in Sandersville.

On Monday (May 5), Beard will serve as chairman at a statewide meeting of media specialists in Atlanta from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. The Specialists will be meeting to discuss new standards for school libraries as they apply to elementary and secondary librarians in Georgia. Representatives from libraries and library media education faculties and audiovisual specialists in the various teacher education programs will attend the meeting.

Mrs. Schweitzer To Appear At GC

Mrs. Miller, Albert Schweitzer

Rhena Schweitzer Miller of Atlanta, daughter of the famed Dr. Albert Schweitzer and a humanitarian in her own right, will speak at Chappell Hall on the Georgia College campus on Thursday, May 8, at 2:30 p.m.

Her lecture, sponsored by the GC campus ministries, is a part of the nationwide centennial celebration of Dr. Schweitzer's birth.

Her father's fame was achieved in a variety of ways --- in theology, philosophy, music, and medicine. His "reverence for life" and "quest for Jesus" were two major affirmations of faith in his life, according to his daughter.

Her lecture at GC is free and open to the public.

Senate Election Richardson Honored

The election for Student Senate will be held Tuesday, May 13 and Wednesday, May 14. Some districts elections will be held in the cafeteria on May 13 between the hours of 11:30 and 1:30 p.m. The vacancies for dorm districts are as follows:

Napier B	1 seat
Sanford	1 seat
New Dorm	1 seat

Day Student Senate elections will be held the following day, May 14, downstairs in the student union from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. For the off campus districts there are eleven vacancies.

There will be a petition box and roster at the desk in the Student Union from Friday, May 2, until Wednesday, May 7. Both the roster and petition slip must be filled out.

Oliver Elected

In a special election for Vice President of College Government Association, Pat Oliver took an outstanding victory over Gary Yawn. The election was held on April 29, in front of Lanier Hall. The turn out was unexplainably low. The election results are as follows:

Pat Oliver	149 E
Gary Yawn	57
Don Thrasher	(write-in) 2
Micky Mouse	(write-in) 1
Henry VIII	(write-in) 1

Biologists Participate In UPI

Dr. David J. Cotter, chairman of the biology department at Georgia College, delivered the retiring president's address at the annual meeting of the Association of Southeastern Biologists held on April 16-19 at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Va.

His address will be an ecological overview of the last quarter of this century.

Two recent graduates of the MS program in biology at GC presented papers with their major professor from Robert J. Richardson, an assistant professor of library science at Georgia College and director of the GC library's public service division, was recently presented a surprise "Professor, You're The Greatest" award at a banquet held to honor 43 outstanding students at the college.

Richardson came to GC in 1971 after earning his AA degree at Middle Georgia College, his AB degree at West Georgia College, and his master of library science degree at Florida State University and after teaching at Dublin Junior High School in Dublin.

The Savannah native had been one of eight faculty finalists for the award as nominated by seniors at the college.

GC Grows

A total of 3,244 students are enrolled for the spring quarter at Georgia College, according to an announcement by registrar Linton Cox.

The total represents an increase of nearly 16 percent over the number of students enrolled for the spring quarter last year. Last spring there were 2,803 students registered at GC.

Women outnumber men at GC, 1,746 to 1,498, and Georgians predominate by a wide margin, there being 3,109 students enrolled at the college from the Peach State.

Georgia College.

Mrs. Pat Lewis of Wesleyan College and Dr. David Staszak of Georgia College presented a paper entitled "Chilling as an Environmental Stress Affecting the Embryonic Development of Musculus L., C57BL-6J Strain."

Mrs. Virginia Baiseen of Mercer University and Dr. Harriett Whipple of GC presented a paper entitled "A Vegetative and Ecological Study Of Man-Made Islands in McIntosh County, Georgia."

Dalton Eddleman Poems Published

Dalton Eddleman, an assistant professor of English and speech and director of theater at Georgia College, is the author of more than 50 poems which have recently been published or accepted for publication in 20 poetry journals of national and international circulation.

Voices International, Modern Images, Dragonfly, A Quarterly of Haiku Highlights, Bardic Echoes, Modern Haiku, The Rufus, Creative Review, The Little Flower Magazine, The Texas Traveller, and Unicorn were among the magazines to print his poems.

Three of Eddleman's haiku poems recently were finalists in Virginia Brady Young's National Quarterly Haiku Contest. Another poem entitled "The Cyclone" was given first honorable mention in Jean Calkin's New York Personification Contest, and "Memphis" was granted second place and a cash award by The Rufus in its best poems section. The editors of Modern Haiku gave Eddleman a special mention award of a book and subscription prizes for his haiku, "Dawn on the Old Farm."

Eddleman, who has also published short fiction and had several plays produced in four university and college theatres and on the Public Broadcasting Service, is presently researching and writing an original historical drama about

Aliff Elected President

Dr. John V. Aliff, an assistant professor of biology at Georgia College, was elected vice president of the Southeastern Society of Parasitologists at the society's annual meeting held recently at Virginia Polytechnic and State University in Blacksburg, Va.

Dr. Aliff, who earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Marshall University in West Virginia and his Ph.D. at the University of Kentucky, came to GC in 1968.

A native of Bluefield, W.Va. and a graduate of Bluefield High School (1960), Dr. Aliff is the author of 12 scientific papers in his field.

Brantley To Speak

Phillip J. Brantley of Sandersville, a recent psychology graduate of Georgia College, will speak at the annual meeting of the Georgia Psychological Association in Atlanta on May 10.

Brantley will present a research paper on preferences of retarded adolescents for work-related rewards versus rewards independent of work requirements.

Brantley, who once presented a research paper at a professional meeting while still a senior at GC, has been accepted for graduate study at the University of Georgia for the fall quarter.

Dr. C.R. Miller, an assistant professor of psychology at GC, supervised Brantley in his study.

GC Students Experience Teaching

One hundred and four Georgia College students -- the largest contingent ever to serve as student teachers -- are serving this spring as practice teachers in twenty communities.

The communities being served by GC students are Augusta, Cochran, College Park, Dublin, Dudley, Eatonton, Fort Valley, Forest Park, Greensboro, Jonesboro, Macon, Milledgeville, Madison, Monticello, Morrow, Riverdale, Sandersville, Tennesse, Warner Robins, and Wrightsville.

Serving in fifteen elementary schools in Dudley, Eatonton, Macon, Milledgeville, Sandersville, and Tennesse are Mrs. Phyllis Boyd of Rutledge, Martha Branan of Decatur, Mrs. Connie Daniels of Sandersville, Linda Florence of Elberton, Pinky Gunter of Nahutta, Norma Hambrick of Cassville, Mrs. Fae Howard of Dudley, Marcia Johnson of Garfield, Barry Justice of Hardwick, Mrs. Cloise Kent of Gibson, Karen Lee of Pineview, Mrs. Jo Martin of Gray, Charlotte McFarlin of Alpharetta, Queen Nelson of Eatonton, Deborah Netwon of Moultrie, Students teaching at Boddie Junior High, Baldwin High School and in the School for Special Education in Milledgeville are Linda Lockhart of Eatonton, Christy Brooks of Gordon, and Ellen Kirkland, Bobby Key, Annie Gardner, Marie Walker, and Patricia Maddox, all of Milledgeville.

Serving in six Bibb County schools are Cindyly Bryant of Centerville, Mar. Sickler of Kingston, N.Y., Gary Justice, Kathy Carter and Sara Thompson, all of Milledgeville, and James Beall, Glenda Jones, Martin Mohn, Susan Schultz, Joy Webb, and Beverly Williamson, all of Macon.

Students serving in five Clayton County schools are Judy Harrell of Davisboro, Susan Jones of Atlanta, Eliza Garland of Fitzgerald, Sandra Ledbetter of Milledgeville, Beth Dasher of Roberta, Mary Brantley of Clarkston, and Martha Banks and Donna Herrington, both of Covington.

Serving at Dublin Junior High and Dublin Senior High are Doris Smith of McKee, Ellen Layfield of Milledgeville, Janet Allman of Macon, Donna Pierce of Waycross, and Reece Foskey, Susan Frost, Phillip Gay, and Thomas Beacham, all of Dublin.

Students serving in four Houston County schools are Glenn Cassell of Vienna, Silvia De Palma of Elberton, Valerie Peeler of Milledgeville, Shirley West of Meigs, Karen Wynens of Macon, and Larry Dameron, Philip Ferguson, and Jane Meals, all of Warner Robins.

At Morgan County High School in Madison is Ann Estes of Madison. Serving at Washington County High School and Elder Junior High School in Sandersville are Michael Rozier and Nancy Faulk, both of Jeffersonville, Mary Jackson and John Kennon both of

Science Supports Maharishi

Students say they get better grades, businessmen report more efficiency at work, athletics-including Joe Namath and Bill Walton-say their reaction time has improved. It seems that over a million people in the world are enjoying a simple technique of deep rest and relaxation imported by an Indian physicist, Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, . . . and obtaining remarkable benefits from it.

Maharishi first came to the U.S. in 1959 claiming the age-old technique of Transcendental Meditation (TM) will "culture the heart" and "expand awareness in individual life." In 1970, Dr. R.K. Wallace, a UCLA grad student then doing his thesis for the doctorate in Physiology, published the first results of tests on TM practitioners in SCIENCE. Since then, over 100 studies have been published revealing that TM:

Provides deep rest, much deeper than sleep, in the span of a few minutes and lasts for 15-20 minutes of meditation. Keeps the mind alert, indicating a fourth major state of consciousness unlike waking, sleeping or dreaming. Does in fact "culture the heart" by improving social behavior, increasing coordination of mind and body, and reducing stress and strain in the body allowing for "full development of human potential."

TV host Merv Griffin verifies all good reports on TM saying that he's "Never felt so good in (his) life. . ." Recently, Merv's guests on TV included Maharishi.

"grandma" of the television serial "The Waltons" and Dr. Harold Bloomfield, psychiatrist-all teachers of TM. The Merv Griffin show will be aired in the Macon area Mon., May 19, at 5 p.m. on channel 41 (UHF) and channel 12 (cable TV).

All persons practicing TM report that no change in life-style is necessary, the technique is effortless, requiring only sitting comfortably in a chair with the eyes closed for 15-20 minutes twice a day. A few businessmen say they meditate on the bus going to work.

All interested in hearing more of the individual, social and world-wide benefits of TM are invited to come to the Wesley House (211 South Clark St.) Wed., May 7 at 4 p.m. The lecture is free and open to everyone.

3 Act Play To Be Performed

Charlotte Chorpenning's classic "The Emperor's New Clothes" will be the next offering of the Georgia College Theatre. The college players will present the three-act comedy about a mythical oriental kingdom in Russell Auditorium at GC on May 8-10.

The delightful play is concerned with an emperor who cares for nothing but his robes and the efforts of a group of rogues to thwart the designs of a jealous cabinet minister.

The rogues are played by Steven Solomon of Baltimore, Md. and Ashley Ursrey of Perry. The emperor is played by John Freeman of Albany, the cabinet minister by Hank Dyer of Milledgeville, and the empress by Margaret Gray of College Park.

Others in the cast are Joe Turner of Fitzgerald, Don Thrasher of Decatur, Nancy Smith of Cochran, Rebecca Griner of Claxton, Nancy Turnage of Sunrise, Fla. and Anna Meacham and Audrey Courtney, both of Milledgeville.

Curtain for the play, open to the public as well as to the college student body, will be 8 p.m.

Now showing on Campus Video until May 9, 1975.

Gospel Choir On The Move

The Black Student Alliance Gospel Choir has been performing more than ever. The choir believes that "practice makes one better in whatever he does." Therefore, we are striving to become better singers.

The choral director for the BSA is Mr. Alton West of Statesboro, Ga. He is a music teacher at Baldwin County High and choral director for various other churches and organizations.

With his help and that of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson of the Wesley House Foundation, the choir has successfully completed trips to various churches and communities. The choir would like to give a special thanks to Mrs. Cook for the work she has done also.

Future trips include Thomaston, Georgia, May 18, Augusta, Georgia, May 25, 1974-75 has proved to be a prosperous year for the choir and they are eagerly anticipating next year.

MIAA Elects New Officers

Dr. Jaime Gonzalez, a professor in the modern languages department at Georgia College, was elected president of the newly-formed Milledgeville International Affairs Association at a recent organizational meeting held at the college. Other officers elected were Mrs. Aida Martinez, vice president; Miss Kathy Craft, corresponding secretary; Michael Ittegu, recording secretary; Bernard Ruhfus, treasurer, and Mrs. Eloise Wollersteig, public relations chairman.

Named to the board of directors were Dr. Bobby Joe Dooley, Mrs. Gwen Stanford, Dr. Manuel Diazestrada, Albert Baawo, and Dr. Gonzalez.

Purpose of the new organization is to foster sympathetic understanding among peoples of all nationalities both in Milledgeville and abroad and to stimulate community interest and participation in services contributing to the well-being of those from other nations living either permanently or temporarily in Middle Georgia.

At the meeting, plans were made for a number of events including a cultural exhibition, a carnival, a play, lectures, and a gourmet dinner featuring foods of many lands.

Plans will be made later for an exchange student program. Membership in the Milledgeville International Affairs Association is open to anyone. Information about the organization can be obtained from any officer or member of the board of directors.

For Red Cross— Marathon Softball Game

The Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta fraternities from Georgia College will play a forty-eight hour marathon softball game from Friday, May 2, at 2:00 p.m. until Sunday, May 4, at 2:00 p.m. The game will be played at Walter B. Williams, Jr. park on the Gray highway about two miles from Milledgeville.

The softball game will be played in order to benefit the American Red Cross Society. Kappa Sigs and Phi Deltas are in the process of asking people to pledge money per hour for the amount of hours they play. If you haven't pledged, contact any Kappa Sig or Phi Delt or come to the table in the hall downstairs in the Student Union on Thursday, May 1.

Another purpose of this softball game is to set a new World Record for the Guinness' World Book of Records. There is no standing record for the length of a softball game at this time. The teams will consist of ten men with each fraternity having only one team. Each man will be allowed a five minute break per hour. Meals will be catered to the field. The public is invited to attend at any time during the forty-eight hours. No admission will be charged but any donations will be appreciated. All donations and pledges will be given to the American Red Cross Society.

Homecoming 1975

Various events took place on the Georgia College campus during homecoming week, April 14-19, 1975. Among the events was a song fest on Wednesday night, April 16, in which fraternities, sororities, and independent organization competed for top honors. Taking first place among the fraternities was the Ga. Zeta chapter of Phi Delta Theta representing the 1950's. Phi Delta sang "Swanee" and "California, Here I Come." The Phi Deltas were led by their chapter chorister, Kurt Wachtel.

A homecoming parade was held on Friday, April 18, through the streets of Milledgeville. Greek organizations were asked to have entries in the parade. These entries were judged by a panel of judges and a grand prize was given to the best entry. Taking the grand prize was the Ga. Zeta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta for their float. The float was built around the theme of "Georgia College Through The Years" with these words reading on each side and the float was separated into different eras corresponding to the name changes of Georgia College through its history. On the float were people dressed to the different eras. Representing Georgia Normal and Industrial Institute (GNIC) was Lorraine Lee; Georgia State College for Women, Lydia Moss; Women's College of Georgia, Andrea Pinson; Georgia College, Gail Ford, Janice Dixon and David Grant. A recording of the old Alma Mater entitled, "Through the Years" was playing from the float.

The Georgia College Stage Band and Augmented State Band is selling records of their Jekyll Island Concert. The records are $4.00 and can be purchased from the Band Room, or ask any band member. If you would like a record please try to get your $4.00 in by May 8, 1975.

Yey! Team!

We love! We love those Colonials! That cheer and others were heard if you attended the games this season and you heard the BSA yelling them more than any other organization on campus. This abundance of spirit and enthusiasm led to the organization's winning of the campus famed "Spirit Award". Winning this award was a first for the organization, but if the students keep the spirit and faith that was present last year it won't be their last. With open minds, hearts and of course our mouths we are looking forward to next year's games.

The GC educator was recently selected by the American Biographical Institute to appear in the Bicentennial Memorial edition of Personalities of the South. Eddleman, who came to GC in 1968 from Maryville College, where he was also director of theater, earned his degrees at Harding College in Arkansas and at Memphis State University. His parents live in Marianna, Ark.

Pikes Do It Again

Pi Kappa Alpha, already considered by many to be the number one Fraternity on Ga. College campus, was formally recognized as such by the Drummers Club at the Awards Day banquet at CSH Cafeteria. PiKA was awarded the Outstanding Community Service Award for their endeavours to help better the school and community.

Garry Heide, president of PiKA for the preceding year, accepted the award on behalf of the Fraternity from Roy Lane, past president of the College Government Association.

The Brotherhood would like to sincerely thank the Drummer's Club for this great honor.

Rep. Groover To Speak

Denmark Groover, Jr., a Macon attorney and a representative in the Georgia legislature for five terms, will speak at Georgia College on Law Day, May 1.

The lecture, in Chappell Hall and free and open to the public, will begin at 11 a.m. Groover, who left office this past January, was House floor leader in 1955-56 and a Democratic committeeman from Georgia from 1956 to 1960.

The Macon attorney will discuss during his talk the problems of enacting laws having to do with the death penalty and on the equal rights amendment currently in the news.

The lecture is sponsored by the Political Science Association at the college.

Max Noah Scholarship

Three rising senior music majors at Georgia College from McDonough, Macon, and Griffin have received Max Noah Music Scholarship Awards for 1975-76.

Scholarship recipients are Melissa Phillips of McDonough, Cathy O'Dillon of Macon, and Marilyn Foster of Griffin.

The scholarship fund, begun several years ago, is named for Dr. Max Noah, founder of the A Cappella Choir at the college and chairman of the GC department of music from 1935 to 1965.

The fund has made it possible for many students to receive assistance as they pursue musical studies at GC. This is the sixth year in which these awards have been made as a result of auditions held in GC's Porter Auditorium.

Behavior Modification Principles

Jerry, a veteran living at Central State Hospital, added 20 new words to his vocabulary of five and now can use 3-4 word sentences that make sense.

Fred, a heavy smoker, reduced his cigarette consumption from 30 to five a day.

A class of pre-schoolers learned to read 25 words on sight in a period of two or three weeks.

Why?

Because of the application of the principle of behavior modification which embodies an assumption that changes and alterations for the better can be brought about in recurring mannerisms or actions.

As taught in an education course at Georgia College called "Applied Behavior Modification Theory", the principle of behavior modification is applied to everything from learning new words to replacing undesirable social behavior with appropriate deportment or demeanor.

Students in the course taught by Victor Hobbs, an assistant professor at GC, conduct their experiments in behavior modification in the classroom, in hospitals, and at home, and work with both individuals and groups who may not know that a study is being conducted.

Students learn in Hobbs' course that behavior can be modified in a number of ways—through positive reinforcement, negative reinforcement, punishment, and through a technique called "a token economy."

Essentially behavior modification is the restructuring of a situation so that a youngster can earn "something good", thereby maintaining or accelerating the desired deportment.

The use of a token economy as a way to change behavior involves the establishment of a system of trade where in children or adults are given tokens that can be used to purchase articles or an extra five minutes of free time in exchange for better performance or more acceptable behavior.

Children and adults who have learned inappropriate ways of coping with their problems can also learn to substitute more desirable ones, according to those who believe in behavior modification.

Control is not a one-way process in learning, according to the behavior modification advocates, who feel that the student can modify the leader's behavior as well as the other way around. Teachers and learners participating together in objectives, rules and reinforcing techniques can make any classroom or situation better than it was before, behavior modificationists say.

Hobbs came to GC in 1974 from West Georgia College. A graduate of Berry College and Georgia State University, he has taught also at GSU and in Cobb and Clayton Counties.

Veterans Service News

Veteran students pursuing FULL TIME programs of education are eligible for Work Study benefits.

The Work Study Program is considered a Part-Time Job. Veterans may work up to 250 hours per quarter, term, or semester, not to exceed 750 hours per fiscal year. Rate of pay is $2.50 per hour. Payment of $250 for 100 hours of service, is made in advance. All other payments are made upon completion of each 50 hours, subsequent to the first 100 hours worked.

Applications should be substituted at the VA Regional Office in person, or by mail. Care should be taken to complete these applications as accurately as possible. Make sure to include the VA File Number. If an applicant desires to work at a school, the school must recommend the assignment, and certify that the duties will be entirely VA related. The school should complete their part of the application.

Positions are filled as they become available. Selection criteria include the following: Preference is given to veterans with disabilities rated 30 per cent or more; Other criteria include need, motivation, transportation, and availability. If all applicants are equally qualified, the date of the application will be used for the initial selection.

If selection for the Work Study Program at the VA Regional Office applicants will be expected to work a minimum of ten hours per week, and a minimum of two hours each time they report. If selected for the VA Hospital, or a school, the hours will be determined by the requirements of that facility. The actual work schedule will be determined by the applicant and his supervisor. Failure to report to work without sufficient reason, or unsuitability for the duties to be performed will result in termination of the agreement. If school enrollment is reduced below a full time basis, it will also result in termination. If the Work Study Agreement is terminated, any overpayment will be withheld from the monthly education check.

Once an application is submitted, it will be placed in a pending file. If it is selected for processing, the applicant will be notified to report for an interview. Applications will be kept on file for the remainder of the current quarter only. If an applicant is not selected during this quarter and wishes to continue to receive consideration, it will necessary to complete a new application.

Ed Kilbourne
At Gmc

Ed Kilbourne is a singer, songwriter, guitarist and recording artist. He has done seven albums and performed over 1600 concerts in the past 12 years before audiences totalling over a half a million people. In the past three years Ed has worked with John Denver and Mac Davis. Now he is in demand across the nation on college and university campuses. He will appear, direct from a west coast tour, on stage at Georgia Military College, May 13, 1975. Time will be announced on Radio WMVG and WXLX as soon as possible.

Dreams I've Lost

I see the happiness of my past and how I could have made it last.
I've said some things I didn't mean and now I find I've lost my dream.

Because I didn't know when to quit
I must admit I haven't much wit.
By writing for Danny and how he feels
I hoped, in me, he would become real.

I'm not perfect by a long way off, and it seems my habits have made me soft.
I hate like hell the things I've done, and now my words are nothing but puns.

But this advice I'd like to give so others will see and remain to live.
When promises are made—keep them at heart or you'll soon see your dreams will depart.

All that pain will rot your soul.
When promises aren't kept, that's the toll.
Nights on end your mind will rot and this you'll find is what you've brought.

So Danny and I will now depart with our pain with our heart.
Hear my words—for they are real
I know this because, I really do feel.
